PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dates to remember

Vermont History Expo

Saturday and Sunday, June 26-27, 2004

Tunbridge Fairgrounds,

Tunbridge, Vermont

Note that this popular event is taking place a week later than the usual weekend date. GSV will be on hand in the genealogy building (Floral Hall), as will a number of other organizations with genealogical interests and services. If there is one can't-miss event for people interested in Vermont history, this is it.

GSV membership meeting

Saturday, October 16, 2004

Save the date. More information will be coming soon.

Genealogy course

October 30, 2004

Vermont History Center

(Vermont Historical Society)

Barre, Vermont

This day-long event will focus on the needs of the beginning genealogist. It will be co-sponsored by the Vermont Historical Society and the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution. Other organizations with an interest in genealogy, including GSV, will be working to make it an informative session. Particularly if you are interested in building your basic skills in genealogical research, keep this date in mind.

New England Regional Genealogical Conference

March 31 to April 3, 2005

Holiday Inn By the Sea, Portland, Maine
GSV is a founding member of NERGC and continues to be a supporting member of the popular series of conferences. We are trying to work things out to assure attendees that it won't snow on the coast of Maine that early spring weekend.

Publicity for genealogical events and meetings

GSV would very much like to do a better job of publicizing genealogical events large and small in and near Vermont, including the regular meetings of formal and informal organizations devoted to genealogy. This includes local or special-interest genealogical societies and genealogical research groups which meet at libraries and other centers around Vermont. If we have enough lead time, we want to know about any special conferences with genealogical interest or local historical society activities which focus on family history. (For obvious reasons, we can't include publicity for every local historical society meeting; we restrict these listings to meetings with particular interest to genealogy.) Be sure to include a way of contacting someone for further information.

Membership directory

A few years ago we published a directory of members, including a cross-indexed list of families they were researching. We limited its distribution to our members in order to protect privacy of names, addresses, e-mail addresses, and so forth. Many members bought copies at the low price we set to cover our costs of printing the material, but a number of copies remain unsold and are probably too far out of date to be reliable now. We would probably serve our members best by posting an updated version of this material on our Internet site, but we are reluctant to do so unless the members who are listed are comfortable having their listing on a publicly accessible site. Before we embark on such an electronic membership directory, we'd like to hear from anyone who has strong opinions one way or the other. As previously, we would not list anyone who had reservations about such an exposure of their information, but we don't want to embark on this effort if too many people would want to be excluded.

Vermont Historical Society

If you haven't visited the newly enlarged Vermont Historical Society museum in the Pavilion Building in Montpelier, be sure to do so.

THE BRATTLEBORO

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The society has just obtained the case files for the Brattleboro District of the Vermont Municipal Court from 1907 until sometime in the 1940s. There are 12 large boxes with case dockets in them. One of the BHS members is going through and organizing them and putting them into archival boxes. I have a laptop computer down there and am entering the names and case numbers into Sky Index on my computer.

These court dockets were taken to Montpelier, I think, many years ago to be microfilmed. Such court dockets were taken from all over the state. After they were filmed, they were brought to Castleton State College and put into storage. The college needed the room and some of the records were taken to the Rutland Historical Society. I don't know if all of them from throughout the state were at RHS. Someone from the RHS contacted the BHS president and asked if we wanted them. We did!

It is interesting to see the types of cases that were prosecuted in the early years. There are a lot of alcohol related charges. Some were possessing alcohol with the intent to sell. I saw one for a name I recognized and took out the paper work to look at it more closely. He was a 17 year old

HEMENWAY ON CD

Learning that Abby Maria Hemenway's Vermont Historical Gazetteer is now available on a CD-ROM, I ordered a copy from The New England Historical Genealogical Society. [See GSV Newsletter, February 2004 page 1] At once I discovered a multitude of errors. This CD was certainly not the quality expected from NEHGS. The typing of the Introduction by John Lippman & Scott Andrew Bartley was without errors, no doubt due to it having been inserted from the copy they submitted. The remainder of the CD has an unbelievable number of typing errors.

My first interest was in the Rutland County sections where I spotted typing errors on every page. One continuing error was having the "t" of "the" [i.e., "int he" or on p. 976 "T his" and "of t his"] with the previous word. In another place, Bennington was spelled Rennington. They should have been ashamed of themselves to offer a CD that was not properly proof-read. In defense of NEHGS, I do understand there are some spelling errors in the original volumes.

At once I contacted NEHGS to complain. As a long time member of NEHGS, I know all their other publications are 99.99% free of typing errors. Dick Eastman replied that they were quite upset with the errors and will look into the situation. Since then, I have ordered the 2 DCs for the Corbin Collection, Western Massachusetts records. I have not spent much time on the first CD, but I just received a refund for the second, with a nice letter saying they were in the process of a more strict proof-reading. It looks like it pays to complain.
